Story Line/Notes: This film will focus on K103.7 and Justin's educated opinion on why they thrive in the second biggest market in Canada. He is a Cree storyteller who has worked with SiriusXM in New York City, so he understands the technicalities of what K103.7 does. More importantly it is his realization that what really makes it special is how they have fused Mohawk culture and language into the station's personality. This is a modern-day Indigenous success story. This station has figured out a formula that inspires him.
